

NO BY-PASS ROUTE IS BEING PLANNED FOR SECTION OF 202

No Additional Highway Between Norristown and New Hope

IS NOT NEEDED NOW

When Necessity Arises State Dep't Will Consider Plans

DOYLESTOWN, Jan. 17 — Bucks county will have no by-pass route to take the place of the present "202" between Norristown and New Hope, as a result of the building of the new Pennsylvania State Turnpike extension to King of Prussia, and the new Schuylkill Expressway into Philadelphia.

This was learned definitely from E. J. Kinney, assistant district engineer of the State Highway Department who met in Doylestown with members of the Bucks county division of the Greater Philadelphia-South Jersey Highway Council.

The meeting was held in the Bucks County Administration Building. Those in attendance included District Engineer Kinney; A. J. Redding, secretary of the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce; State Senator Edward B. Watson, Mechanicsville; James D. Worthington, superintendent of the Bucks county office of the State Highway Department; Amos Kirk, county engineer; V. L. Sanderson, Rushland, chairman of the Bucks county highway council; John Armstrong, Doylestown, Keystone Automobile Club; Wallace Murfit, Newtown, chairman of the Bucks county division of the Greater Phila. — South Jersey Highway Council; and County Commissioner Simon K. Moyer, a member of the Bucks county division of the association.

District Engineer Kinney outlined the plans of the State Highway Department and made it very plain that when a relocation of Route 202 is needed—if such a thing is necessary after the completion of the turnpike extension — that the Department will be very willing to consider by-pass plans.

Everything is planned now, Kinney said, to rebuild the present Route 202 between Chalfont and Doylestown, to eliminate the reverse curves at National Agricultural College, and another near the New Britain residence of George Slotter, and to widen the bottleneck on Doylestown's West State street, leading into Doylestown. This work will all be completed this year.

The State plans are already complete to improve Route 202 in New Hope Borough. There will also be numerous improvements to the dangerous intersection at Montgomeryville, Route 202 and 309. Traffic lights will be erected there and traffic will be controlled over new approaches to the intersection.

No money is available for any extensive improvement of Route 202 between Doylestown and Buckingham, but where necessary improvements are needed, they will be made. District Engineer Kinney said that his department had received numerous inquiries about a by-pass route through Bucks county to take the place of 202.

"We have informed all inquirers who might be thinking of buying a farm or other property through the area, to do so, and not worry; that we have no plan whatever, to take over any extra ground for by-passing."

When the section between Doylestown and Chalfont is completed, and it will be even finer road construction than the piece between Chalfont and Montgomeryville — there will be an excellent through

Activities of Interest To All In The Various Communities

GLEAINED BY SCRIBES

Russell C. Howell, Upper River road, was given 30 days by Justice of the Peace James D. Hackett to clear his property of an accumulation of rubble, which authorities say constitutes a health and fire menace.

Action was brought against Mr. Howell by Mrs. Bruce Woodhouse, president of the Yardley board of health, who said the man had been told last May and several times since to clean up the place.

It was estimated there are more than 50 truck loads of Belgian blocks, broken glass, pieces of concrete and rotted lumber on the premises. Mrs. Woodhouse said the rubbish had become a shelter for vermin.

Horace R. Eisenbrei, chief of Yardley Fire Company, said the dump constitutes a fire hazard.

Mr. Howell, who operates a mill-work and glazing business, told Justice Hackett he has been physically unable to comply with the order of the board of health. He produced a physician's certificate testifying to his illness.

After hearing the testimony, Justice Hackett announced Mr. Howell will be given 30 days to clear up the debris.

Two new directors were elected and three were re-elected at the annual meeting of the

One thousand dollars has been budgeted for this year's program, which will be used principally for landscaping and planting of trees and shrubs to screen out the borough dump, just west of Mill street.

Seven membership applications were presented and approved, problems of the Chamber's retail division were aired, and a report made that the Chamber's 1950 clean up campaign is already being organized was heard at the meeting last evening. President Clyde J. Waterman was in charge.

SECOND TRIAL IN HOXWORTH CLAIM SUIT IS UNDER WAY

Bucks County Boy Scout Executive and Son Sue An Easton Man and Others

TRIO OF DEFENDANTS

Verdict for Plaintiffs Last April; Defendant Is Granted New Trial

DOYLESTOWN, Jan. 17 — The second trial in the suit for damages brought by Richard Hoxworth, 20, and his father, Raymond W. Hoxworth, of Doylestown, Bucks county Boy Scout Executive, against William Otten, Jr., of 500 Folk street, Easton, and others, got under way yesterday in the Bucks county civil court, before Judge Fred W. Davis, of Stroudsburg.

The defendants in the case in addition to Otten, Jr., include Mrs. Martha Mercer, of "Aldie," Doylestown; and Elizabeth Darrah, executrix of the estate of Mary Elifman, joined as additional defendant. Young Otten, a graduate of Penn State, is a law student at another college.

On April 30, 1949, a jury in the same court here, returned a verdict for the plaintiffs in the sum of $4,500. The defendant, William Otten, filed a motion for a new trial and this was granted on October 11, 1949.

The defendants are represented by Attorneys Thomas Ross Frederick Ely Smith, and the defendants by Webster S. Achey and Arthur M. Eastburn.

The plaintiffs are seeking damages as a result of an automobile accident on Easter Monday, 1947, on North Main street, near the Dublin Pike intersection, Cross Keys, Doylestown.

Hoxworth received a serious injury to his left leg when he was struck by an automobile driven by William Otter, Jr., who was accompanied by his father at the time.

The defendant, Otten, claims that he was compelled to swerve to the side with his car in order to avoid a collision with a station wagon owned by Mrs. Mercer and driven at the time by the late Miss Mary Elifman, and that as he swerved his car, the vehicle ran into a portion of a gasoline station at the Main Street-Dublin Pike intersection, and struck young Hoxworth, who was working there at the time as a part-time employee.

The case was called for trial yesterday and the jury was excused by Judge Davis to view the scene of the accident, and directed to return to court this morning.

Trial started yesterday afternoon in the civil court case of Ralph M. Lewis, 22, of Uhlertown, against Paul H. Hoffman, Jr., of Millville, N. J., in Judge Edward G. Blester's court.

Lewis is suing for damages as a result of an accident on a bridge along Route 32, at Point Pleasant, on May 15, 1948, at 2:15 p. m. when Lewis' motorcycle was involved in an accident with an automobile driven by the defendant Hoffman.

The jury: Marie L. Coe, Langhorne; Marion G. Hill, Sellersville; John F. Fegley, Spinnerstown; Joseph P. Corrigan, New Hope; Charles W. Lauble, Langhorne; Edward H. Deal, Bristol; Millicent R. DuBois, Yardley; Mae Foster, Bristol RD 2; Joseph Barndt, Perkassie RD 3; Boscal Rice, Pennel; Phoebe Applegate, Riegelsville; Charles M. VanZant, Bristol.

LITTLE TATTLETALES

Every week the citizens of New York City observe Dry Thursday. Authorities appeal to them to do without baths and shaves and car washes. The city's water supply, despite some recent rains, is still 150,000,000 gallons short.

Until new sources of supply are opened the shortage threatens to become chronic, and of little further interest to outsiders. But many persons were jerked to attention by a news item from the metropolis the other day. It was about Stephen J. Carney, utilities commissioner, and his plea to the students of all the public, private and sectarian schools of the city. He asked them to be "water scouts"—to save water themselves and to be missionaries to their parents.

The point is whether the kids were asked to report back to their teachers about what their parents did. If they got the idea they were supposed to spy on Pop or Mom and bring back an intelligence report to Teacher, many Americans wouldn't like it—though no penalty could be inflicted on the culprits. That sort of thing has a slight flavor of the much more serious type of youthful espionage in Germany before and during the war. Children were persuaded to turn in their own parents to the Gestapo for criticizing the government.

If a child comes back to school and says, "I told everybody at home about saving water, and they said they would"—that is laudatory. But if it went like this: "Daddy shaved with water this morning!" the teacher ought to make the little tattle tale sit down and shut up.

JUGS TO JETS

A jet plane makes no bones about announcing itself. There is a mildly terrifying whoosh, not quite like anything ever before heard by mortal man. Jets are no longer zoo specimens in many areas over which they have flown.

But before long the sound of jets will be heard everywhere in the land, as the Air National Guard switches from "jugs" to jet planes. This conversion is reported to be under way in several states.

Whenever jets make their appearance, people are forced to revise their techniques of observation. Since a jet of the new type running wide open crowds the sonic barrier, there is no use looking in the direction of its whoosh to see it. The jet always is several miles in advance of the spot from which the whoosh comes.

It's been described as like winging a rocketing black duck. Shoot at the duck and it will not be destined for the oven. Lead well ahead of him and there may be duck meat for the table. The same thing goes for jets. It's all a part of growing up to this supersonic age.

If there is no word for "gentleman" in the Russian language, as alleged, it may be lacking because it isn't needed.

Two-Case Trial Held In Bucks Co. Court

DOYLESTOWN, Jan. 17—Verdicts were directed in favor of both defendants in two cases tried simultaneously in Bucks County Courts. President Judge Hiram H. Keller presided.

In one case, Oscar Covington and Aileen Covington, Langhorne, were suing John F. Yeager, Crofton.

In the other case, Ella Smith was suing Oscar Covington, who was a plaintiff in the first case but the defendant in this action.

Since both cases grew out of the same accident May 16, 1947, near Langhorne, President Judge Keller ordered them tried together.

A nephew of the defendant, Oscar Covington, Ridgely C. King was operating his uncle's truck when it collided with a car being operated by the Crofton defendant.

State Policemen Duane C. Allen and Thomas Marks, of the Langhorne sub-station, of the Pennsylvania State Police, who investigated the accident, testified.

Because of contributory negligence on the part of the plaintiffs, the Court directed verdicts in favor of the defendants and the two-case trial was concluded.

girls from Bristol township HI-Y and Tri-HI-Y were formally inducted into the YMCA at Bristol. These pupils were members of the HI-Y sponsored by Robert S. C. Miller and the Tri-HI-Y sponsored by the Misses Elizabeth Kellan and Irene Kochera.

The secondary teachers divided into two groups yesterday, for the teachers' workshop. Eight teachers attended the Newtown meeting to hear Dr. Gladys Fish, speech expert from the State Department of Instruction, and Dr. Miles Garber, psychiatric consultant to Bucks County teachers. The remaining 21 faculty members met in the library of the junior high school to talk about modern school philosophy. It is hoped that an acceptable school philosophy will be definitely set on paper by the end of this school term.

gained new interest in their observation and study of changes about them when Frank Jackson took in a limb of a tree that had been cut in two by beavers. The chips were brought to show how the beavers worked. Mr. Jackson told the pupils much about the habits of beavers, such as: The beavers use their tails as a trowel in cementing pieces of wood with mud; that the beavers "flap" their tails in water to warn their families of approaching enemies.

The pupils learned, too, that beavers live in colonies, and that Mr. Jackson had at another time observed such a colony while in the Pocono mountains. The pupils recalled a "movie" seen at school entitled, "Our Animal Neighbors," which had shown so vividly the habits and industry of which Mr. Jackson spoke.

A group of second grade pupils interested in study of the occupations of people in Edgely community, visited Frank Jackson's workshop on Thursday. Mr. Jackson demonstrated the power drill, hand saw, making of keys, sharpening of saws, and the cutting off and replacing of teeth in saws. Pupils observed four sources of heating the home—electric power, oil burner, coal burner, and wood for fireplace. Among other items of interest was a clock over 100 years old. Mrs. Jackson graciously assisted her husband in entertaining the group of interested and "wide-eyed" little visitors.

Upon returning to the school the children made pencil and crayon drawings which were used in discussion and evaluating the information gained.

That "East Meets West" is true at Laurel Bend school. China has come to Laurel Bend school through the many activities now being conducted in the sixth grade. The travel club members of that grade decided that they would like to study life in China in contrast to present day life in their own community. Committees were selected to plan a "systematic study" of everyday life in China.

The class room has assumed the atmosphere of "The Far East." Chinese vases, hand-drawn pictures, murals and blackboard exhibits feature activities to date. A number of girls are busy making Chinese rag dolls, while the boys are building Chinese boats (known in China as "Junks") from various types of materials.

A date is being planned in the near future to have colored photos taken of the exhibit when completed.

Dr. James Lawler, school physician, assisted by Mrs. Selma Baird, school nurse, spent several mornings at Maple Shade school last week examining children of the first and third grades. This periodic health examination of school children is part of a state-sponsored health program and is given each child every two years.

Several mothers were present at their children's private examination (all parents are privileged to attend when notified that the child will be examined at a specific time) and found it more than helpful to see and hear the comments of the doctor and nurse on their child's physical aspects.

Miss Hazel Cook, teacher, of crafts in the junior high school, has volunteered her services to teachers of the township schools. On Thursday the first class met at Maple Shade school when Miss Cook at 3:30 instructed the teachers present on the weaving of "waffle mats."

The following were present: Miss Ethel Morgan, Newportville school; Mrs. John Ellis, Edgely school; Mrs. Florence Lewis and Miss Kathryn Griffie, Maple Shade school.

Since the project is entirely optional for those who find it convenient to attend, it is hoped more of the talent and time that Miss Cook has generously given. The next meeting will be on Jan. 26.

The New Age of Chivalry

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

"THE Age of Chivalry" is not gone. But a new kind of chivalry is emerging. In this new chivalry the lady is the young wife and the knight is her husband. This brave young knight really wins his lady but not with a sword nor in metal armor. He bears no weapons and wears no armor. He destroys no life. He shares in creating something imperishable.

Whether or not this chivalrous young knight shares with his lady in creation of a new life—or even preceding such creation—he has shared in the creation of something which will live on and on—a truly chivalrous relationship with his wife.

Now we may be so blinded and deafened by what we have seen and heard about the broken heart-ties which once bound some wife or husband as not to be aware of the many young married couples who are true knights and ladies.

Before Marriage

Let us look attentively at some such couples that we know. There was romance and chivalry, of course, before their marriage, but this romance and chivalry have not died or waned. Instead, they have grown, even though this growth may not always be apparent to us. This young knight remains a knight and this young lady is still a lady. His chivalry grows and her ladyship increases, because of each other.

Is this too optimistic? Of course not; you and I know some young married couples whom the foregoing correctly describes. The young husband from the beginning helped his wife a bit around the house. They had good times doing these chores together and, with these jobs out of the way, they had considerable time for fun together or with their friends.

As soon as the first baby was expected she and he together selected the physician who would take care of her and deliver the baby, and he went with her on her first visit to this doctor and as often thereafter as possible.

Good Times

At home he kept on helping her, and when she felt a bit indisposed he did more about the house. He and she continued to have good times together, to have their friends in and to go out among their friends, to places of recreation, to the market and to church. Often they went on long walks or hikes. They modified these activities only in terms of her physical comfort and well-being; and as she had good medical care and enjoyed a normal social life, she usually felt very well. (My bulletins, "A Baby is Expected" and "The Baby has Arrived," may be had in a stamped envelope sent me in care of this paper.)

It never occurred to this pregnant wife that she should not go everywhere as usual, even when she had advanced pretty far in pregnancy. Her chivalrous young husband never felt the least embarrassed to be seen out with her anywhere. Indeed, he always was very proud to have his cronies know of the happy expectation. He was truly a knight with his lovely lady. And when at last the baby arrived he was ready and eager to learn to help in the infant's physical care. Thus developed the ideal background for him to go with his wife as a happy companionable parent of this precious little child. Such is the modern age of chivalry.

that water from the Perkase Water Supply Company would be available. Either of these sites would be agreeable to the anti-Sell-Perk group.

Representatives of the Sell-Perk board reiterated the board's position on its original offer of a free site, together with the use of the present building for Junior high purposes for the eight district group. The offer of the free site and use of the building is conditioned upon the erection of the joint high school on the site.

Proponents of the Sell-Perk site point out that the free site, the use of the present building by the entire district, together with the availability of city water, sewer and fire protection, constitute assets that cannot be duplicated at any other site.

Opponents recognize the advantages of the Sell-Perk site, but contend that it lacks sufficient area for a modern school which likely must serve the entire community for at least half a century.

The maximum acreage available at Sell-Perk high is close to 25 acres.

Superintendent Charles H. Boehm expressed satisfaction with the manner the several board representatives compromised their differences on the matter of sites and urged members to continue in their study of the problem.

After the meeting a mock trial was held for a "horse thief" (portrayed by Charles Shaw). The judge, E. Dilwyn Darlington, sentenced the culprit to be hanged immediately. The verdict was carried out, and the thief was hanged (in effigy) from a large tree in the rear of the church.

Bus Transportation Likely To Be Crippled

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 17.—(INS)—Bus drivers of the Reading Transportation Co., which operates lines in eight Eastern Pennsylvania counties, appeared on the verge of a strike today.

Contract talks between an American Federation of Labor local and the company ended in a stalemate yesterday in Philadelphia.

The threatened strike would affect thousands of commuters within a radius of 100 miles of Philadelphia.

The union is demanding a 48-hour week's pay for 40-hours' work and a more liberal mark-up time for filing reports. The company has offered a six and one-half cents hourly wage boost and five additional minutes for mark-up time, the union reported.

Counties involved are Philadelphia, Bucks, Montgomery, Berks, Lehigh, Lancaster, Dauphin and Luzerne.

There were no reports of progress made in the Reading and Lebanon transit tie-up, following a conference called by Federal and State mediators. The strike of members of the International Association of Machinists, employed by the Reading Street Railway Co., started on Jan. 6.

No By-Pass Route is Being Planned for Section of 202

highway between Doylestown and Chester.

District Engineer Kinney reported that the surveys recently completed by the State Highway Department indicated that Route 202 will not siphon any material amount of New York bound traffic after the Turnpike extension is completed. Members of the Bucks county division of the Council however, could not agree with that. They could see no reason why a driver would go nearly 40 miles out of his way, through Philadelphia — even though it will be an expressway — when they will be able to cut across Route 202, through Doylestown, miss Philadelphia and Trenton.

The State Highway Department's official check of travel on Route 202, near Chalfont for instance, showed that 2689 cars use the highway daily. South of Doylestown, the check showed 4808 cars; north of Doylestown, 3282 cars; and at New Hope, 4670 cars.

This amount of traffic is not sufficient to consider any by-passing of 202, the State engineer declared. "When 202 does generate enough traffic after the turnpike completion, the State will be only too glad to take the proper action," Kinney said.

Members of the council agreed with the expression of V. L. Sanderson, of Rushland, that the utmost co-operation be given the State Highway Department in its present plans of rebuilding Route 202, between Chalfont and New Hope.

as possible—and to abandon any by-pass efforts for the time being. The improvement that will be made on West State street in Doylestown, will be one big improvement for that community, and it will be appreciated just as much after any future by-pass is established, for it will always be the main entrance to Doylestown.

State Senator Watson was asked to convey personally to the State Highway Department in Harrisburg the desire of the Bucks county division of the Council to co-operate in the plans for rebuilding 202.

The Council members were of the opinion however, that 202 between Doylestown and Buckingham should be improved just as soon as possible.

The new Schuylkill Expressway that will connect with the new Turnpike extension at King of Prussia, will carry the traffic to the new Roosevelt Boulevard connection, over a complete new expressway through Fairmount Park.

Some members of the Bucks county ty council expressed the opinion that the new Turnpike completion will mean 50 percent more traffic over Route 202, but the State engineers and traffic experts think not.

One thing is absolutely certain, the State has no idea of coming through Bucks county with a complete new by-pass route that would threaten property or the plans of any prospective purchasers. That was definitely explained yesterday.

The present much-improved New Hope-Lambertville bridge is also considered safe and sufficient to carry any reasonable amount of increased traffic.

(e) All payments made by the Borough to the Borough Tax Collector for collection of said tax shall be made by proper warrants or orders drawn upon the Borough Treasurer. It shall be unlawful for the Borough Tax Collector to deduct funds for his compensation from any amusement tax funds in his possession.

Section 9: That Section 7 of the above entitled Ordinance is amended to read as follows:

Our loving heavenly Father, the God and Father of our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ, and our God and Father through Him, be near unto us as we would draw nigh unto Thee. We pray Thee to pour the light of Thy grace into our spirits, that we may behold what Thou hast done in our behalf and what Thou art in Thyself. Accept our praises for Thy continued mercies to us, for the fulfillment of Thy great promises given to the prophet and apostle of old and thru them to us. Draw us closer unto Thee in fellowship that we may live more obediently to Thy leading. In Jesus' name we pray. Amen.

HIGH SCHOOL'S RUN OF VICTORIES TO BE AT STAKE TONIGHT

Bristol High's three-game winning streak will be at stake tonight as the Warriors meet Trenton Catholic High on the latter's court, Chestnut avenue, Trenton. Starting at 7:30 o'clock, the junior varsity teams of the two schools will battle.

Coach Jerry Bloom's team, with a record of five victories and two defeats, will be facing an old nemesis in Father Arthur's lads. The two schools have always played to close scores but Trenton Catholic emerged the victor in most of the contests.

The Wizards have won five games and lost three and only on Friday night defeated Hamilton High in an intra-city match. Prior to that Catholic drubbed Camden Catholic so it will be shooting for its third straight win.

Father Arthur has a "Mutt and Jeff" combination at forwards in Warren Wright and Ron Logan. The reliable "Ted" Mutecki will cavort at center with Tucker Bransfield and "Tex" Feldenzler being the guards. "Fran" Goeke has an injured knee and it is not known whether he will be in the line-up. For reserves, the Golden Wave can depend on Tom Walker, Tony Satin, and Clarence Gilbert.

Trenton Catholic has plenty of height outside of Warren Wright and uses a 2-1-2 defense. Height has been instrumental in most of Catholic's wins this season.

Bristol is determined to make it four straight. Coach Bloom's array has beaten Pennsbury, Bensalem, and Upper Merion in succession and the Warriors are looking better in every contest. Coach Bloom's starting lineup will be composed of: Joe Pindar, "Bill" Condit, Frank Rich, Frank Barbetta and "Vic" Cauti.

Coach Harry McClister's Jayvees will be tested to the core tonight as they tackle the unbeaten Trenton Catholic Jayvees. The latter team has won six consecutive contests while Bristol's record is six wins and two losses.

Bristol returns to its home floor Friday night, meeting Palmyra High.

SPORT NOTES

The National Federation of High School Athletic Associations have revised the old football "fumble" rule which permits a defensive team to pick up a scooped fumble and advance it. The rule, against the advancing of the ball, had been in effect for 10 years. The P. I. A. A., of which Lower Bucks County teams are members, belong to the NFHSAA and voted to follow the rule to advance the ball on fumbles.

However, the New Jersey State Intercollegiate Association voted against the proposal and will stick to the rule against advancing the fumble so when teams from Lower Bucks meet the teams of the NJSLA, there will have to be a get together to see which rule to follow.

This also means that some of the officials who officiate in games on both sides of the river will have to be on their toes at all times when fumbles occur.

Coach Barbara Yerkes, of the Bristol High School, is making an attempt to revive girls' basketball between schools.

Arnie Malloy, who is stationed at Fort Monmouth, N. J., scored 15 points against Fort Dix in a game last week. Malloy helped St. Ann's to win the championship of the Bristol Basketball League last season.

A sports writer in DuBois, Pa., has written to Governor Duff, protesting the rule of the PIAA which prohibits football teams of that association from participating in post-season bowl games. The DuBois High School team, with nine wins in ten games, had two offers for bowl games last season.

Coaches Harry McClister and Jerry Bloom, of the Bristol High School, believe in players and managers wearing their Sunday best clothes at the games, especially when travelling. Quite a bit of comment has been heard about the neatness of the dress of the Bristol players at various schools they have played. Every player must wear a tie, sport shirts being taboo.

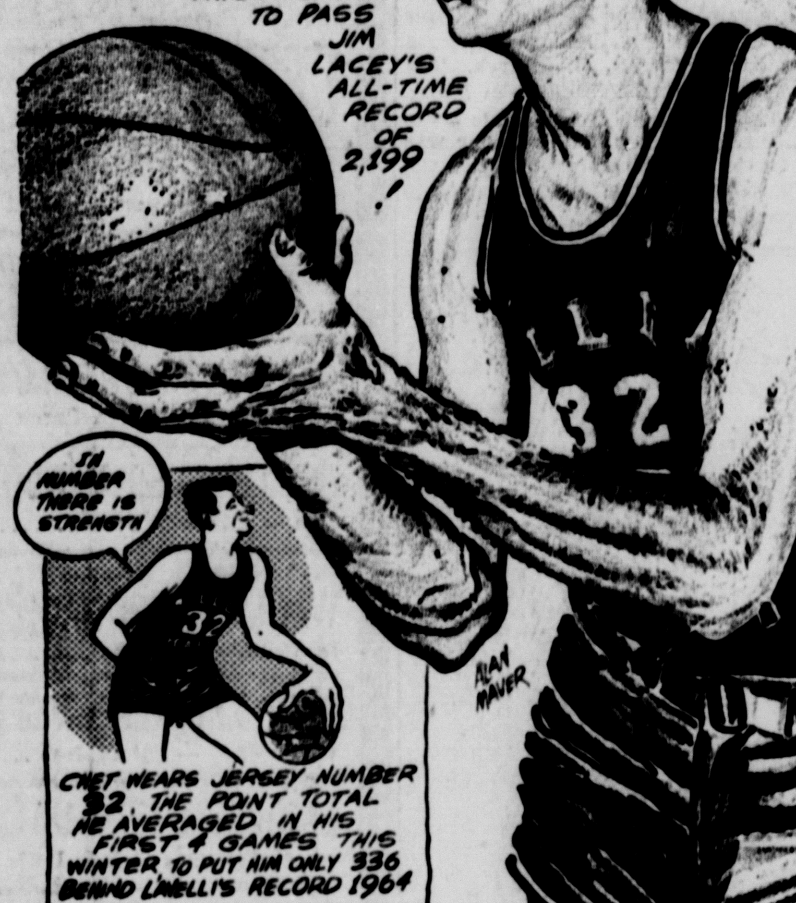

"Jimmy" Sottile has made the freshman basketball team at West Virginia University. "Jimmy", star of last season's Bristol team, scored 21 points in one of the games before the Christmas holiday.

The new bleachers installed in the high school gymnasium are the latest and when folded will be but a foot from the wall.

Bristol High has advanced considerably in sports' equipment in the past few years. Notably have been the new football stands, basketball bleachers, press booth on the gridiron field, a re-seeded field, a new basketball score board, the lighting system on the football field, turnstiles, training and storage rooms. Next on the agenda seems to be glass backboards for the basketball court.

The PIAA has lowered the age limit on junior high school from 17 to 16 years, starting next September. The PIAA will also ask the membership schools whether or not to eliminate javelin throws from the track meets because of the javelin being a dangerous instrument.

In seven games with Bristol High, Joe Pindar has amassed 35 field goals and 23 fouls for 93 points. Playing with the Proty team in the Bristol Basketball League, "Johnny" Pindar, a brother of Joe, has garnered 36 fielders and 29 free shots for 92 points, giving the Pindar boys a total of 185 points in Bristol scoring.

BRAY'S LONG SHOT SCORES WIN OVER BRISTOL TOWNSHIP

"Dave" Bray's long shot from mid-court with five seconds remaining to be played gave Pennsbury Junior High a 22-20 win over Bristol Township Junior High yesterday afternoon in a Lower Bucks Jr. High League game at Lower Makefield.

The score was deadlocked at 20-20 when Bray looped one from the mid-section of the court. The sphere dropped cleanly through the net as Timmer Stanley Dick sounded the horn, ending the game.

Bray's final twin-pointer made him high scorer for his team while Bob Whitcoe and John Pearl led Bristol Township in scoring with 7 and 6 points, respectively.

Township, coached by Burk Ellis and John Antoni, had a one-point margin at intermission, 8-7.
